

Journal of Medical Ethics

Contents

January 2008 Vol 34 No 1

Editorial

- 1 Thick as thieves – the Norwegian medical association attempts to stifle ethical debate
S Holm

Clinical ethics

- 2 “Allow natural death” versus “do not resuscitate”: three words that can change a life
S S Venneman, P Narnor-Harris, M Perish, M Hamilton

Ethics

- 7 Developing the duty to treat: HIV, SARS, and the next epidemic
J Dwyer, D F-C Tsai
- 11 Debating disability
T Shakespeare
- 15 Disability: getting it “right”
C Thomas
- 18 Is Tom Shakespeare disabled?
T Koch
- 21 Philosophy and science: the axes of evil in disability studies?
S Vehmas
- 24 The expressivist objection to prenatal diagnosis: can it be laid to rest?
S Holm
- 26 The impairment/disability distinction: a response to Shakespeare
S D Edwards

Law, ethics and medicine

- 28  A role for doctors in assisted dying? An analysis of legal regulations and medical professional positions in six European countries
G Bosshard, B Broeckaert, D Clark, L J Materstvedt, B Gordijn, H C Müller-Busch

- 33  Lifestyle, responsibility and justice
E Feiring

Research ethics

- 37 Low risk research using routinely collected identifiable health information without informed consent: encounters with the Patient Information Advisory Group
C Metcalfe, R M Martin, S Noble, J A Lane, F C Hamdy, D E Neal, J L Donovan
- 41 Effect of social support on informed consent in older adults with Parkinson disease and their caregivers
M E Ford, M Kallen, P Richardson, E Matthiesen, V Cox, E J Teng, K F Cook, N J Petersen
- 48 Informed consent in Ghana: what do participants really understand?
Z Hill, C Tawiah-Agyemang, S Odei-Danso, B Kirkwood
- 54 Against the principle that the individual shall have priority over science
G Helgesson, S Eriksson

Teaching and learning ethics

- 57 Unesco’s Ethics Education Programme
H ten Have
- 60 Teaching rounds and the experience of death as a medical ethicist
R R Sharp

Articles carrying the Editors Choice Logo are freely available online under the BMJ Journals unlocked scheme.

Articles carrying the Unlocked Logo are freely available online under the BMJ Journals unlocked scheme.

See <http://jme.bmj.com/info/unlocked.dtl>

www.publicationethics.org.uk
This journal is a member of and subscribes to the principles of the Committee on Publication Ethics